A representative of the Rumford Social Security Office will be at the Bethel Town Office between the hours of 1 p. m. and 3 p. m. on Tuesday, Aug. 20, 1974, to serve area residents in Social Security matters.

The full range of service will be offered—assistance with claims for retirement, survivor, disability and Medicare, as well as the new Supplemental Security Income program, problems relating to benefit checks, Medicare claims, and all related matters. This service is in addition to that which may be received at the Rumford Social Security Office.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Planning Board met Wednesday evening, Aug. 7. The primary subject on the agenda was Shoreline Zoning. Ordinances must be adopted at a Special Town Meeting prior to any activity proceeding within 250 feet of designated rivers and streams.

A Code Enforcement Officer who will be responsible for the enforcement of the ordinance must be appointed also. The Selectmen are attempting to define what the position entails as it is difficult to discuss the subject with a person interested without knowing at least how much time will have to be devoted in carrying out the duties of the office.

Some municipalities are simply creating a new full-time position to fulfill the requirements of this law.

The Selectmen have established a policy that unless a septic tank is 10 years old or has to be replaced, home owners will not have to connect to the public sewer system.

COLLECTION OF PAINTINGS BY NORWAY ARTIST EXHIBITED AT BETHEL LIBRARY

A new art exhibit, a collection of paintings by Mrs. Toni Bjorklund of Norway, arrived Tuesday at the Bethel Public Library, and will be on display for the next three weeks.

Mrs. Bjorklund is a native of Massachusetts, but has resided in Maine for many years. She studied art at Fitchburg (Mass.) Teachers College and the University of Wisconsin and later under Prof. Lajos Matolcsy of South Paris. She has taught art at the junior high level and also given private instruction to children.

A member of the Western Maine Art Group, she has exhibited regularly with the group as well as having several private showings.

Her work includes a variety of subjects and, although she prefers to use oils, she is equally adept in other mediums such as acrylics and charcoal. Her paintings have received several prizes and honorable mentions in area art shows.

UP-TO-DATE WITH THE BETHEL HEALTH COUNCIL

Elwyn Dickey and a small contingent of the Bethel Health Council members will visit the Bucksport Family Medical Care Center on Aug. 13. Their objective is to study the ways and means used by the townspeople of that community who were able to find the location and funds to establish that facility. It is reported to be unique in that it is wholly owned and managed by participating citizens who contract with a Boston hospital for professional direction and the sanction necessary to enable their para-professional staff to function. This system of self-sufficiency and administration is one of the administrative plans being considered for the projected Bethel Health Center.

Chairman of the Board, John Laban, and his staff are busy writing letters to the various organizations in the Greater Bethel area, including all communities in the S. A. D. and other nearby towns. It is hoped that the letters will evoke interest and pledges of support for the proposed family Health Center which, the Council is convinced is mandatory for adequate medical coverage in this area. If any organization in the area does not receive such a letter, according to Laban, it will be through inadvertence or lack of knowledge of their existence. If there are such organizations that want to learn more about the proposed Center, they may be in touch, directly, with Mr. Laban, R. D. #2, Bethel—636 3331.

Mr. Laban is asking all interested organizations to appoint two of their members to act as liaison officers for their group.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY ENJOYS LOGGING PROGRAM AT AUG. 1 MEETING

At the meeting of the Bethel Historical Society on Thursday, Aug. 1, Alan Chapman brought many tools, some old and some of more recent manufacture, and demonstrated their use in the logging industry. Photographs depicting early logging methods were distributed through the audience. Assisted by his wife, Alan showed movies taken at logging sites in the Bethel area within the past few years, which emphasized strongly the contrast between new methods using heavy mechanized equipment and the old days when logs were taken out on horse-drawn sledges.

Dr. Sidney Davidson, who has been the moving spirit behind the Moses House project since its inception, has donated a unique molasses jug to be placed in the kitchen of the House. "My mother had inherited the jug from her mother who had used it in Morristown (Pennsylvania)", Dr. Davidson said. "My mother told me that since childhood she had always remembered that the jug had stood in the kitchen of her mother's home. My mother gave it to me, and I had it at my camp at Sebec Lake, Maine, until I gave it on July 19, 1970, to the Bethel Historical Society. A date is scratched at the bottom of the jug." The date is October 5, 1844.

Wednesday evening includes testimonies of healing.
You are cordially invited to attend these services. Everyone is welcome.

The radio series, "The Truth That Heals," may be heard on radio stations, as advertised in this newspaper.

I REMEMBER THE GOOD OLD DAYS

From Bessie Oates, Mt. Olive, N.C.: When I was a child we lived on a farm. My parents raised most of the food that we ate. Back then, people raised rice in this area. They also grew wheat and carried it to the mill to have it ground for flour. Corn was ground for meal. Most people killed their own hogs for meat and I remember how cold it used to be when my folks killed our hogs.
During hog killing time, we young people were in school and it was a happy time to come home from school and smell the aroma of fresh sausage and other good things. It seemed especially good after walking three miles home from school, which was a one-room school house. We had one teacher and she taught all seven grades. At the end of seventh grade you were finished with school. Very few people finished high school in those days because you had to leave home and live in a town with a high school. That meant a lot of money that most people didn't have.

Eveline Barrett, Corres. - The new bridge was opened for traffic at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, July 30. A large mobile home had gone over through Tuell Town at 1:30 p. m., and got to the turn to go to Newton's house about five minutes before the bridge was passable. The road crew should be finished by Aug. 7. We are all proud of our new bridge as there is heavy traffic now due to logging and camps on the pond.

Eveline Barrett has an African violet that has 27 pink blossoms and nine big buds on it. Very pretty.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hearon were at Brunswick Air Base, Thursday.

Mrs. Eugene DeShon and Bethany, Norway, brought her father over Saturday to inspect the bridge and boat facility.

At the Barretts during the week were Doris Lawrence, Laura Kalinowski, Mildred Hazelton, Pauline Perham, Floreston Pierce, Jerry DeShon and Bethany, Norway.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. —

This is the very perfection of a summer's day. I have just visited the farm fields. The early summer festival of bird songs is no more, though they are here we hear usually a casual twittering or chirping. The bobolinks have said their good bys and have melted out of the landscape. I miss their beauty and their songs which were poured out and downward like musical water.

Bees were visiting the flowers. I could see them crawling over the faces of "Susans" and filling the air with industrious hum. Deep in the jewel weeds they bury themselves entirely. I have some flowers like them that I call pink jewel weed. They resemble the yellow in most ways except they will each day when the sun shines. The seed pods are the same and burst open with violence when touched. And looking I could hardly believe that "Joe-Pye" with its "crushed raspberry" tinge is already in the low lands. Yet we have June roses on this first day of August.

Swallows labored overhead in the wind gusts or sat on the wires, living in a world of their own and much aware of ours.

The robins were busy feeding their second family and guess where! On a limb above our raspberries, and the food? Raspberries, of course! I stood and watched. Another surprise; the greater part of the nest was made from tissue! Some was woven in and some hanging down. This implies that where man treads he litters.

Gone now are the drifts of blackberry blooms. In their place are the forming berries which soon when ripened will resemble enameled pottery, so shining they will be.

I sat on a rock and swept my eyes over the miles of landscape. A short distance at my right a woodchuck was also watchful, probably of me. From the next field came the clatter of the baler. No more do we see the gleam of the hayfork tines, and the lifted bundles of hay falling into the haystacks which went rolling and swaying over those same hillside fields.

Down the cart road I could see the pond and its blue distance, over
